

2004 INDUCTEE

Heather WILBUR

Athlete – Golf

The first New Brunswick woman to become a professional golfer, Heather turned pro in 1999 after an outstanding amateur career. She was a multiple winner of NB and NS amateur championships and won the Moncton Excel Award for Female Athlete of the Year in 1995. The first New Brunswick woman to play on the LPGA Tour, Heather won her spot in a qualifying tournament where she finished fifth. She participated in the LPGA US Women's Open. Heather died of cancer in her third season with the Futures Tour of the LPGA.

