Athlete – Hockey

Stacy Wilson's hockey career began by playing minor hockey with the boys. While attending Acadia University she helped start and played on the women's hockey team. Following graduation, she became a member of the Moncton Blades and competed at the National Championship for ten years, winning a silver and bronze medal along with a tournament MVP. Success continued with Team Canada, winning World Championships in 1990, 1992 and 1994. She captained the team to its fourth consecutive gold medal in 1997 and a silver medal at the Olympics in 1998. Stacy then moved on to first assistant coach to the University of Minnesota Duluth Bulldogs, winning three consecutive Division I NCAA Women's Hockey championships.
