C.W. ROBINSON

Builder – Golf

Several golf courses in Moncton were developed under the passion, vision and hard work of C.W. Robinson. In the years between 1910 and 1942, his name is connected to the Humphrey, Moncton and Riverdale golf clubs. The latter club, built on land in the Gunningsville area scoped out by C.W. Robinson, eventually became the Moncton Golf and Country Club. An avid golfer, he was president of the Maritime Golf Association in 1923 and the Maritime Senior Golf Association in 1925.
