Builder - Physical Education

Raymond Légère's love of basketball for which he coached teams to provincial and national titles was only overshadowed by his love for physical education and the values it taught young people. Originally a physical education teacher in a range of schools from Plaster Rock to Petitcodiac, Raymond became the physical education supervisor for the City of Moncton in 1953. Ten years later, he became director of physical education at Vanier High School, and then Mathieu-Martin High School.
